Evolution of Decentralized Finance

2010

Early Concepts and Bitcoin

DeFi's roots can be traced back to the inception of Bitcoin in 2009. Bitcoin introduced the idea of decentralized money.

2015

Smart Contracts and Ethereum

The launch of Ethereum introduced smart contracts, programmable agreements that execute automatically when conditions are met.

2018

Liquidity Pools and Automated Market Makers

Protocols like Uniswap revolutionized DeFi by introducing automated market makers (AMMs) and liquidity pools

2020

Scaling Solutions and Layer 2

With the surge in DeFi usage, Ethereum, the primary platform for DeFi applications, faced scalability issues, leading to high transaction fees.

Decentralized Platform

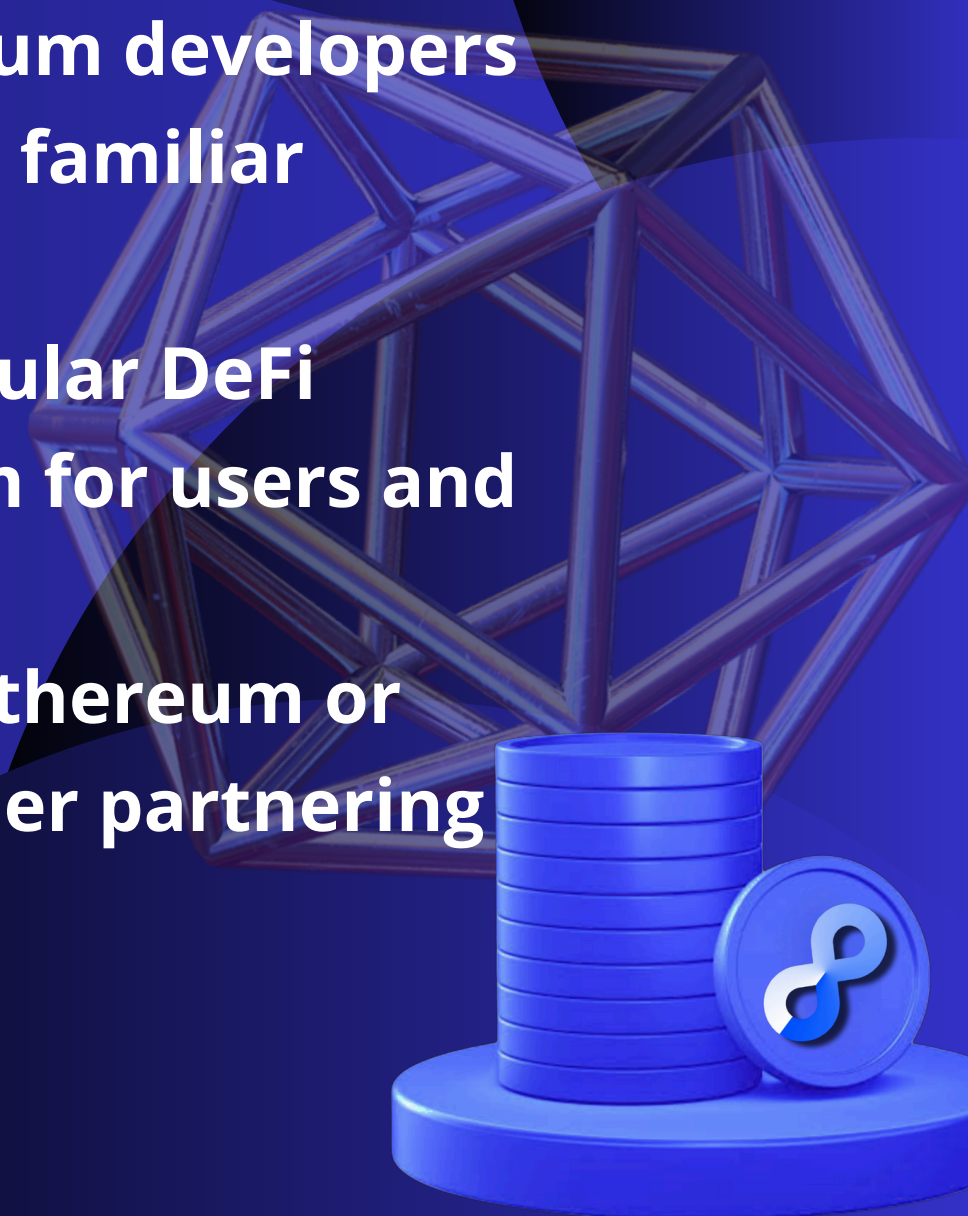

- BaseForever leverages base blockchain's robust architecture to redefine decentralized marketing with cutting-edge Smart Contracts.
- These contracts execute autonomously, immutable and unalterable, ensuring secure and stable transactions within the ecosystem.
- With logic permanently inscribed on the blockchain and verified by an extensive network of computers, BaseForever stands immune to disruptions.
- It represents a fusion of strategic marketing and technological innovation, establishing a trusted, decentralized platform poised to shape the future of business.

What Is Base Blockchain?

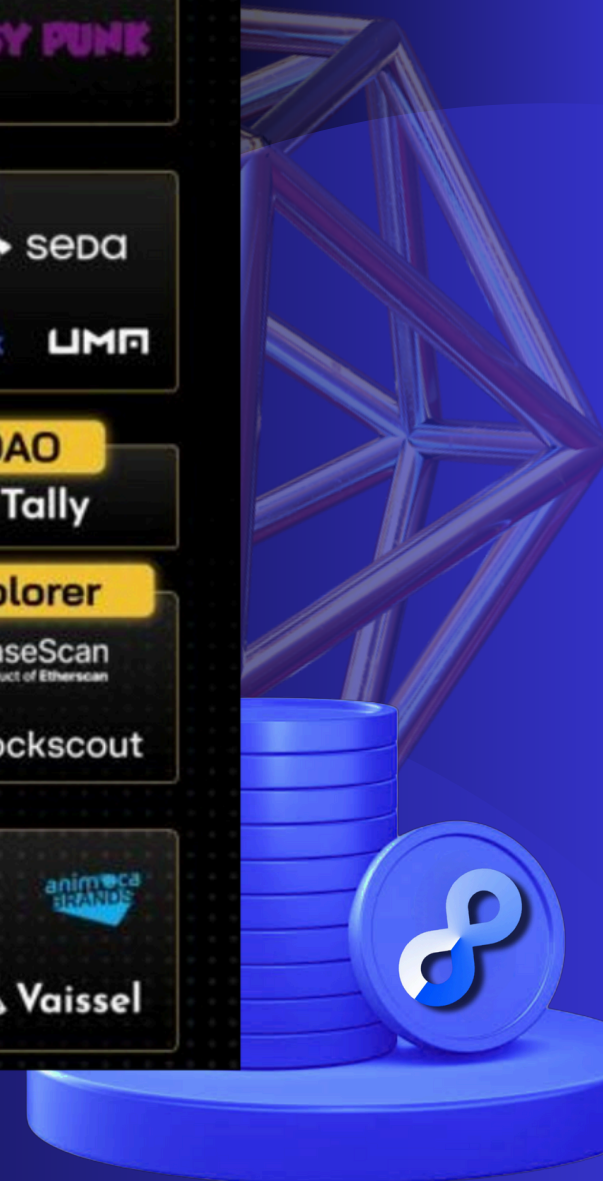

- At its core, Base is an Optimistic Rollup leveraging the OP Stack developed by Optimism, aiming to offer a low-cost, scalable solution for Ethereum dApps.
- It uniquely does not have its own native token, relying instead on Ethereum for transaction fees and operations, aligning closely with Ethereum's vision and functionality.
- Base's infrastructure facilitates a seamless transition for Ethereum developers and users to a scalable environment without departing from the familiar Ethereum ecosystem.
- Base supports a wide range of dApps and services, including popular DeFi protocols and NFT marketplaces, making it a versatile ecosystem for users and developers alike.
- Bridging to Base is straightforward, requiring users to transfer Ethereum or other supported ERC-20 tokens via the official Base bridge or other partnering platforms.

Base Ecosystem

The Base Network is an Ethereum Layer 2 scaling solution incubated by Coinbase, designed to offer a secure, low-cost, and developer-friendly platform for building decentralized applications

Base Harvesting

Base Harvesting presents a structured opportunity through 15 distinct Bases, each with a specified price and ID created within Base Eternity.

- First Referral: Initiates the creation of IDs within Base Harvesting & Eternity.
- Second Referral: Divides rewards between the referrer and the 2nd Upliner evenly (50% each) for Bases 1-5. For Bases 6-15, the amount is distributed across 5 to 10 levels of sponsors of 5% each distribution, enhancing the rewards structure.
- Third Referral: Channels 100% of the rewards directly to the referrer, rewarding direct recruitment.
- Fourth Referral: Rewards the sponsor entirely, while also creating an ID for the referrer and adding them as a referral under the upliner, fostering network growth.

Base Harvesting

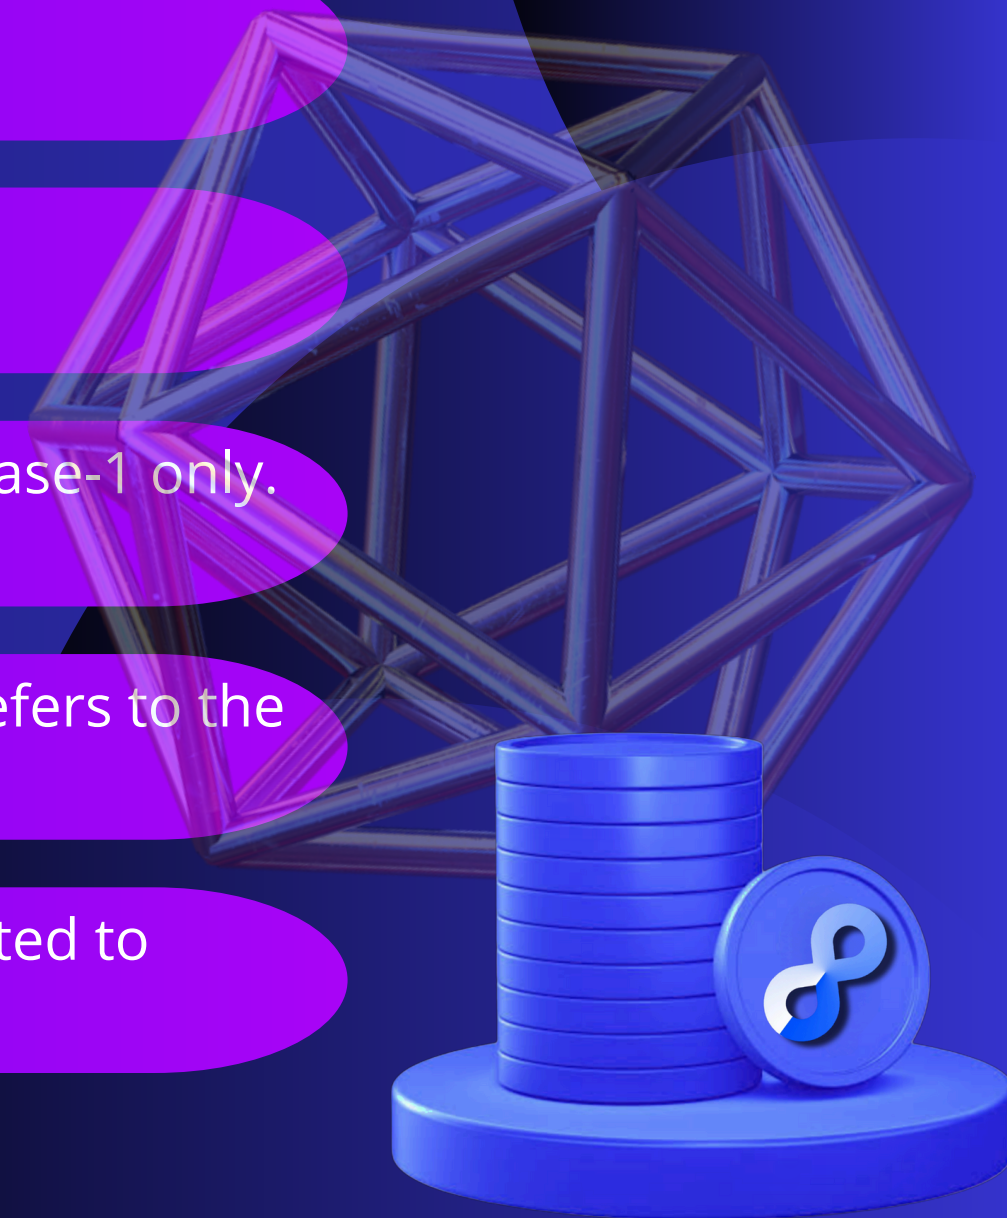

1st Referral

-  A new user joins the program by using a referral link from an existing member
-  Upon joining, the new user pays 1 USDC to join the program
-  A partial payment is sent to a specific entity called "Base Eternity"
-  Upon activation, unique IDs are created for both the sponser and the new user for Base-1 only. This indicates their participation in the system
-  The first "Base" in the program is activated upon joining. This Base activation likely refers to the initial level or tier of membership or benefits in the program
-  Users have the option to "level up" by paying a specified amount and Ids will be created to referrer in "Base Eternity."
